Lyme survivor calls for review

JEFF CUMMINGS
jeff.cummings@metronews.ca

It only appeared to be a cold at first during the Christmas holidays in 2004, but Ed Sperling's symptoms later caused him to miss an entire year of school and doctors in Alberta were unable to properly treat him, say his parents.

The 19-year-old, who is now studying at the University of Alberta, was diagnosed with Lyme Disease, a rare bacterial infection that causes nervous system disorders if it's not properly treated.

His parents believe he contracted the disease when he was 15 in California, where the family lived before moving back to Edmonton.

Ed Sperling

Sperling, however, was not diagnosed by doctors in Alberta because the criteria to diagnose patients with the disease are "unrealistically stringent" since the illness is not common here, said Sperling's father, Felix.

Since Alberta doctors did not treat Sterling in time with antibiotics, he fell into a catatonic state, his parents said. They frantically sent a sample of his blood for a diagnosis to doctors in California.

"I would freeze, and I would have a total lack of appetite," said Sperling who admitted to being told by people that he was faking his illness.

"I was totally disabled, so I couldn't walk to school."

Alberta Liberal Leader Kevin Taft, who represents the Sperlings in Edmonton-Riverview, called on the Tory government yesterday to work with the Canadian Lyme Disease Foundation to begin a formal public review of Lyme disease in Alberta.

"I'm sure there are a lot of people out there who are not filling those criteria (for a diagnosis) and they are getting very, very ill," Felix said.

Taft introduced the family in session yesterday and introduced a private member's statement about the disease.

'Tis the season for theft from cars, cops warn

victoria.handysides

Laptops, purses, cameras, radar detectors, and loose change are an open invitation for thieves to break into vehicles, Edmonton police said yesterday.

They are teaming up with the AMA to make drivers aware of a preventable crime.

"The police can't be everywhere to find people doing this," said Supt. Joe Marshall. "There are so many people doing it, and we're making arrests, but the numbers remain high."

Over 10,000 Edmonton smash-and-grab thefts were reported in 2007. So far this year, the count is 8,000.

AMA spokesman Don Szarko said that over $60 million is collected each year in stolen property insurance claims in Alberta.

Officers suggest, in addition to ensuring doors are locked, shopping bags shouldn't be left inside vehicles on Christmas shopping runs. Police say that even when the car is locked inside a garage, nothing in a vehicle is safe.

Driver resigns after child left asleep on bus

SCHOOL A forgotten three-year-old child on a school bus could be the third strike for a local bus company, Edmonton Catholic School Board officials said.

Leigh Lamb was on her way to a multicultural preschool program at Mother Theresa Elementary School (9008 - 105 Avenue) Wednesday morning, and fell asleep along the way.

When the driver counted heads of the six children getting off the bus, the girl was overlooked, and marked absent. Three hours later, the driver noticed the child was sleeping on the bus.

After realizing her mistake, the bus driver quietly resigned yesterday.

This is the third incident in under a year that has risen from employees at R.L. Smith Transportation, one of the Catholic school board's five carriers.

"We have some very serious concerns with R.L. Smith, and the way they have handled this incident and others," said ECS spokeswoman Lori Nagy.

2 years after death in swarming, no closure

victoria.handysides@metronews.ca

On the second anniversary of her son's death, Marlene McGillis curled up on his frozen grave and lay with her son all afternoon.

"There she was, laying there with a blanket on his grave in -13 C," Dylan McGillis' father, Grant McGillis, said yesterday, describing the scene he found upon pulling up to the cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Dylan McGillis

Dylan, a 20-year-old father-to-be was swarmed in an unprovoked attack by a group of men on Whyte Avenue on Nov. 19, 2006, and stabbed in the chest. He was taken to the University of Alberta Hospital, and though he underwent three emergency surgeries, died the same day.

"I have horrible memories of watching him in the hospital, all the blood that was there in that room, the emergency surgeries, and wires and tubes. It's tough to relive it, but that's what our lives are now," Grant said.

The Lloydminster man became a father eight months after he was murdered.

His baby daughter, Daelyn, is being raised by his grieving girlfriend, Natasha Brouwer, who was slashed on her arms in the attack.

"His daughter will never, ever, have the things that most little girls would take for granted, and that's having their dad in their life," Grant said.

Dylan's family and friends still hold onto hope that his killer will be found, and are holding a candlelight vigil in his memory this Saturday night on the corner of 106 Street and Whyte Avenue, the very spot Dylan was fatally wounded.

Police recently released photos of persons of interest in the case, which Dylan's family members will be passing out, in hopes that someone can help identify them.

"All we have left is hope. I can't give up, and I won't give up," Grant said. "Dylan deserves that, not only from me, but from the EPS and people that were out on Whyte Avenue that night and may have been part of the beating."

$1M windows make big move

Panes of million-dollar glass were moved, very carefully, from a west-end seminary yesterday to their new Edmonton home.

Beautiful stained-glass windows, 28 to be exact, were moved from St. Joseph's Seminary to the Catholic Pastoral Centre at 84 Street and 101 Avenue, where they will be re-assembled.

The windows are considered a treasure by the Catholic Archdiocese, which paid $24,400 for the French-made treasures in 1957.

It's estimated that, today, the windows are worth over $1 million.

Government names new 15-member health board

jeff.cummings@metronews.ca

Health Minister Ron Liepert has handpicked a 15-member board that is expected to reshape health care across the province, but NDP Leader Brian Mason says all the appointees are Tory friends in the private sector. "This is a board that is full of corporate executives and directors," said Mason.

"And in some cases there appears to be real problems and real conflicts of interest here."

Mason said one of the new members, Tony Franceschini, heads up Stantec Inc., which has multiple contracts with the health-care system, including the new Grande Prairie Regional Health Facility.

Brian Mason

Mason said this appointment is "fraught with major conflicts of interest."

"There is no conflict of interest," said Liepert in the legislature yesterday.

"(He) is one of the pre-eminent leaders in this city."

The new board, which will report directly to the health minister, includes 13 members from Alberta, one from Ontario, and one member from the United States.

Liepert changed the status of the seven current board members from interim to permanent, and named eight new members.

Former MacLeod MP Ken Hughes will continue to chair the board that is made up of lawyers, a banker, educators, a physician, an accountant and a former Tory Alberta MLA.

The move comes after the province replaced its nine regional health boards with one superboard Liepert said would allow health care to be more accessible across the province.

Police led on car chase

CHARGES A man took police on a wild chase after officers spotted him making what they believe was a drug deal north of downtown Wednesday.

Around 8:45 p.m., officers spotted a man who they believed was selling drugs in the area of 103rd Street and 123rd Avenue.

After throwing on the sirens, the man sped around the police vehicle, over three lawns, until officers rammed the Acura to stop it.

Michael Yu, 22, is charged with drug trafficking offences, criminal flight from police, dangerous driving, and operation of a motor vehicle while disqualified.

He was additionally charged with four breaches of probation and arrested on six outstanding warrants.

Underage teen charged after crash

CRIME A group of teens took off on foot from police after officers attempted to pull the underage group over in a suspicious vehicle.

Officers spotted a car near West Edmonton Mall just after midnight yesterday with four suspicious looking passengers.

They followed it, and the vehicle struck a concrete barrier near 85th Avenue and 188th Street. All four teens inside got out and ran.

After chasing the kids on foot, officers captured the driver. A police dog was used to flush out the other three, who were hiding in bushes in a nearby yard.

All youths in the stolen car were between the ages of 13 and 15.

A 14-year-old was charged with possession of stolen property under $5,000 and several Traffic Safety Act infractions.

Soldier's grandson claims pieces found in frame shop

jeff.cummings@metronews.ca

Six medals belonging to a soldier who fought in the Second World War that were left unclaimed for 13 years in an Edmonton framing shop are now in the rightful hands of that soldier's grandson in Ardrossan.

Merlin Friel became emotional for a brief moment when he was handed his grandfather's medals for the first time by soldiers at the Edmonton Garrison yesterday during a brief news conference.

"I am very happy, I'm happy to get them back," said Friel, whose grandfather, Jim Friel, served in Italy, Germany and France during one of the deadliest wars Canada has been a part of.

After leaving the military, Friel's grandfather worked for Strathcona County for 25 years. He died in 1972.

"I'm going to put (the medals) in my office where I can look at them every day," said Friel.

The Canadian Forces made a public call earlier this month to ask the public to help find the rightful owners of the military medals.

After hearing back from a number of people who claimed the medals, the Canadian Military found that Friel's family were the rightful owners.

Tories project deficit

The Canadian government will run a budget deficit for the first time in over a decade as the economy slides into a mild recession, the new parliamentary budget officer predicted yesterday.

The gloomy outlook provided by Kevin Page, the budget officer, provided ammunition for the Liberals, who accused Prime Minister Stephen Harper of irresponsible spending and poor economic stewardship.

"The most interesting point was the statement in black and white that this deficit is not because of a global economic situation, but its entirely because of

"It's a made-in-Canada Stephen Harper deficit" actions taken by the Harper government," said Liberal legislator John McCallum.

John McCallum

"It's a made-in-Canada Stephen Harper deficit," he said.

Based on the average forecast of private-sector economists, the report forecasts a deficit of $3.9 billion in the 2009-10 fiscal year starting April 1, a deficit of $1.4 billion in 2010-11, followed by small surpluses in the next two years.

Page is predicting deficits of between $12 billion and $14 billion in each of the next four years. The newly re-elected Conservatives insisted throughout this year's campaign that they would continue to balance the books.

Ottawa is seen running a surplus of $4 billion in the current fiscal year, down sharply from the $9.6 billion recorded in 2007-08.

New speech laws pitched by separtist

QUEBEC Separatist Parti Québécois leader Pauline Marois wants to introduce a newer, stronger version of Quebec's controversial language law, Bill 101.

Yesterday, in an attempt to rally the party's sovereignist base — some of whom are frustrated the leader has put sovereignty on the backburner — Marois proposed that Quebec adopt a new Bill 101, put in place by her party in 1977. The new law would require smaller businesses with up to 50 employees be able to operate in French. Currently only those with more than 50 employees are subject to the law.

The have-not's lament

OmniVision

Rick McGinnis

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

Ontarians have had enough to distract them over the last few months, to be sure — there have been two election campaigns, an economic meltdown and two seasons of So You Think You Can Dance, after all. You can't escape history, though, and with the early snowfall comes the reminder that we're in for a long winter, and our first since Michael Jackson's Thriller was released that we're going to be a welfare province.

The rest of the country was looking up the word "Schadenfreude" earlier this year, when it was announced that the province they loved to hate had slipped into the economic classification known as a

"have-not" member of Confederation, and that Upper Canada would be due for transfer payments as part of some inscrutable federal formula. The news kept Rick Mercer going on overdrive for weeks.

This week, former premier Mike Harris wrote an editorial in the National Post mourning that "Ontario isn't just on the edge of a fiscal and economic crisis — we've toppled over a cliff, and no one really knows how far down we might fall."

On the same day, the province's Tory opposition released MPP Ted Chudleigh's poem about the province's fiscal situation in an e-mail.

"Ontario, the land of my birth," Chudleigh writes, "For decades, the centre of fortune and mirth/Where hard work and sacrifice defined our self-worth/Where none could imagine dependence and dearth."

Doggerel, to be sure, and hardly likely to elicit sympathy from the rest of the country, but it suggests a creative solution to the crisis that hasn't been explored.

There are ... so many more ways we could, in Barack Obama's phrase, "spread the wealth" without inspiring resentment from Peggy's Cove to Granby Bay.

While the province counts down till the start of the next fiscal year and the $347 million due from Ottawa, we're also bracing ourselves for the inevitable jeers and scorn from the rest of the country.

It doesn't have to be this way; there are, after all, so many more ways we could, in Barack Obama's phrase, "spread the wealth" without inspiring resentment from Peggy's Cove to Granby Bay.

Surely the Atlantic provinces could spare us a few decent poets to relieve us from versifying such as Chudleigh's, and can't creative surpluses in the rest of the country be alleviated at little more than the cost of a flight to Toronto on Westjet or Porter?

Montreal has no shortage of dance companies, and Winnipeg can certainly spare a few film collectives. Calgary has its share of surly salespeople — can't they find positions in Gap stores all around the Golden Horseshoe?

As for British Columbia, they've been doing their bit for years, sending Ontario discrete shipments of BC Big Bud and Merville Blueberry along with their spare bassists and film set drivers.

All I'm saying is that being a have-not province doesn't mean Ontario has to be resented by the rest of the country; considering what we'd get in exchange, I think we'd deserve your pity.

Thank God, it's family dinner night

Bonnie Stern

Family meals are making a big comeback. Everyone is looking for comfort, camaraderie and a trusting environment. Where have we gotten with everyone fending for themselves, letting big companies provide home meal replacements, dining out all the time and buying exotic, expensive ingredients?

With our current economy family meals make a lot of sense. When you entertain, invite guests to be part of a family meal rather than a Saturday night extravaganza. Guests feel honoured to be invited into your family and they love to help with cooking — even with the dishes! You can serve reasonably priced ingredients, you don't have to have fancy flowers or table settings and you don't have to feel guilty about it.

In the last few years, people have become more and more suspect of the safety of our food, our environment and of the world in general. Large companies preparing countless amounts of food are bound to have problems at one time or another. When you cook for yourself you have more control, know the quality of your ingredients and don't have to worry about the food keeping forever. You can buy locally produced foods and help protect the environment as well as your family.

When you buy prepared foods it is pretty hard to pass recipes down to your children. Your children will probably repeat your model. And if the company you use goes out of business, there won't be any more traditional family recipes.

A family dinner is the time to celebrate your family's accomplishments and discuss any problems. I like Friday night for many reasons, but one is that it's a great time to discuss the week gone by while it's still fresh in everyone's mind. Then you can say goodbye to it and welcome the weekend. Family dinners create family values and in times of uncertainty, it helps to have people around you that you can trust.

People are looking for emotional connections so desperately that even strangers are getting together to cook and eat meals together. Pot-luck dinners are the entertaining style of the year and even television shows, like the hit Gossip Girl, are promoting family dinners.

So invite your friends to join your family or create a family for yourself from the different "families" you belong to (alumni groups, book clubs, etc.). When people realize how good it feels to gather around the table, they will turn around and do the same things with other people. Try it. It's catching on.

Auto-bailout vote postponed

Wall Street was hostage to the rapidly changing news of a possible rescue for the U.S. auto industry, with the stock market rising on news of a tentative bipartisan deal in Congress for a $25-billion US package for Detroit and then falling to new lows when the deal ran into trouble.

Automakers held out hope. After the end of the trading day, the White House announced it could back a compromise plan pushed by Michigan senators to help by using $25 billion in Energy Depart-

FEMA warns of giant U.S. earthquake

REPORT People in a vast seismic zone in the southern and midwestern U.S. would face catastrophic damage if a major earthquake struck, a government report said yesterday.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency said if earthquakes strike in the New Madrid Seismic Zone, they would cause "the highest economic losses due to a natural disaster in the United States."

FEMA predicted a large earthquake would cause "widespread and catastrophic physical damage" across Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri and Tennessee — home to some 44 million people.

The zone is subject to frequent mild earthquakes.

Experts have long tried to predict the likelihood of a major quake like those that struck the zone in 1811 and 1812. They shifted the course of the Mississippi River and rang church bells on the East Coast but caused few deaths amid a sparse population. REUTERS

The sign in the Oak Hill General Store asked customers to place a $1 bet on the date of Obama's assassination, and said "Let's hope someone wins," the Portland Press Herald reported. It was called the "Osama Obama Shotgun Pool."

The store in the town of 9,285 people in southwest Maine has remained closed since reports of the sign appeared in the media on Sunday.

About 80 people attended the meeting, including some who defended the store owner, said town clerk Mary Chapman. REUTERS

PM vows to fight crisis by any means

Canada will take whatever fiscal and monetary measures are needed to combat the effects of the global financial crisis, Prime Minister Stephen Harper said yesterday, predicting more economic gloom to come.

Harper also told Parliament that the Conservative government would not balance the budget by raising taxes or cutting essential services in a time of upheaval.

He also promised short-term stimulus for the economy amid a U.S. recession.

Finance Minister Jim Flaherty said Ottawa may consider providing economic stimulus through additional investments in infrastructure projects.

That would be on top of $16 billion in spending already pledged in the last budget and which Flaherty hopes to disburse more quickly than initially planned.

All through history the great religions have spoken to the return of a future Teacher. The Christians hope for the return of the Christ, the Buddhists look for the coming of a new Buddha, while the Muslims await the Imam Madhi, the Hindus a reincarnation of Krishna and the Jews the Messiah. How will we know Him? Surely He will ring our hearts with a message of sharing, justice and brotherhood. How can we prepare the way for Him? Each day brings opportunities, large and small, to act in favor of unity and justice. Our willingness to share will make a real difference in our world.

Red Wings topple Oilers

Detroit hangs on after nearly blowing an early 3-0 lead

NHL RESULTS

Detroit 4 | Edmonton 3

ROBIN BROWNLEE
for Metro Edmonton

THE SKINNY: Detroit built a 3-0 lead in the first 10 minutes on goals by Jiri Hudler, Pavel Datsyuk and Tomas Kopecky and then rode Chris Osgood's 31 saves for an encore to Monday's 4-0 victory over the Oilers.

THE QUOTE: "We gave them a chance to come back in the game," Detroit captain Nicklas Lidstrom said of two late goals by the Oilers. "But we started to bear down in the last three or four minutes there."

THE BIG PLAY: The Oilers

had narrowed it to 3-1 in the second when Hudler took Derek Meech's shot off the end boards on a power play and tucked it past netminder Mathieu Garon at 18:28 for his second of the game to make it 4-1.

BURNED: The Oilers gave Detroit's top-ranked power play three chances in the first period and Datsyuk and Kopecky, who'd gone 25 games without a goal, scored with the man advantage. Detroit finished 3-for-5.

SHORT NIGHT: Dwayne Roloson made his fourth straight start but was given the hook in favour of Garon at 10:11 of the first period after allowing three goals on 10 shots.

ROAD WARRIORS: The Red Wings have a road record most teams don't boast at home. Detroit is 9-1-1 away from Joe Louis Arena. That's more wins on the road than 27 other teams have at home.

TRADING PLACES: Jesse Boulerice was put on waivers yesterday and defenceman Ladislav Smid was activated from injured reserve and put in the lineup — on left wing. Smid hadn't played forward since he was eight years old.

THE NEXT GAME: The Oilers host the Los Angeles Kings on Wednesday.

Eskimos WR Peterson named CFL's best Canadian player

CFL Edmonton Eskimos share the stage with such wide receiver Kamau Peterson was honoured as the CFL's Most Outstanding Canadian last night. Peterson, an eight-year CFL veteran, had 101 receptions for 1,317 yards and four touchdowns in 18 starts this season. He received 25 of 46 first place ballots to edge out Ben Cahoon. "It has been an honor to share the stage with such unbelievable talent here at the player awards," Peterson said. "Any time that I can represent an organization as steeped in excellence as the Edmonton Eskimos, it is humbling to say the least. My hat goes off to Ben Cahoon on his great season, as I am a big fan."

All signs point to a Grey Cup Stampede

YorkReport

Marty York

marty.york@metronews.ca

Seven reasons that explain why the Calgary Stampeders will defeat the Montreal Alouettes in Sunday's Grey Cup game at Olympic Stadium:

- Defence wins championships. And the Stamps' defensive unit, sparked by linebacker JoJuan Armour and lineman Mike Labinjo, was the stingiest in the CFL this season. The B.C. Lions couldn't even notch a TD against Calgary in last week's Western final, and that's unusual in the high-scoring CFL. Calgary's defence subscribes to a bend-but-don't-break mentality, drummed into the unit by defensive co-ordinator Chris Jones, who spent the past seven years as a Montreal assistant coach. Jones is entirely familiar with the tendencies of Als quarterback Anthony Calvillo.

- A clutch kick could do the trick. The Stamps' Sandro DeAngelis led the CFL in scoring this season. He also established himself as the league's most dependable kicker. And clutch field goals historically have been key — and often dramatic — components of Grey Cup victories. Als kicker Damon Duval is no slouch and his relationship with club president Larry Smith (Duval married Smith's daughter) isn't the only reason he is on the Montreal roster. But Duval became inconsistent this season and squandered several chip-shot opportunities.

- Home-field disadvantage. This will surprise you, I suspect, but playing in Montreal won't hurt the

Shades of Grey

- For Grey Cup notes and nuggets, check out Marty York's latest CFL Report, exclusively at metronews.ca. And be sure to pick up Monday's Metro or log on to metronews.ca to read Marty's Grey Cup game column.

Stamps a lick. Since 1958, when the CFL was officially formed, teams competing in the Grey Cup in their home city are 3-5. Besides, Olympic Stadium isn't really the Als' home. They play their games at Percival Molson Stadium. As for the so-called 13th man in the stands, the Stamps have prepared themselves by pumping taped, near-deafening sounds into the P.A. system during practices at Olympic Stadium this week. And they need only to score quickly to take the crowd out it.

- The Stamps sure can score. No CFL team is more explosive. Joffrey Reynolds was the CFL's leading rusher; Ken-Yon Rambo, its leading receiver.

- Calvillo's crashes. The Montreal QB doesn't exactly have a great Grey Cup record. This will be his sixth championship game in a nine-year span. He has won only once before.

- Coaching. Montreal's Marc Trestman exceeded expectations in his first CFL year, no question, but Calgary's John Hufnagel has oodles of CFL experience as a player and assistant coach and knows exactly what Grey Cup week entails. That's a significant advantage.

- Moi. Heck, I picked the Stamps in print to capture the Cup before training camp started this season. I'm not changing my mind now.

Twilight a predictable love story

Twilight

Director: Catherine Hardwicke

Starring: Kristen Stewart, Robert Pattinson

Classification: PG

Rating: ●●

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

With an established fan base — mainly populated by teenage girls — the literary phenomenon Twilight is already guaranteed an audience in theatres.

Chances are, that ready-made audience will like the film, but sadly, anyone hoping for a youth fantasy that can crossover to general audiences, a la Harry Potter, will be disappointed.

It's not that Catherine Hardwicke's film is terrible, it's just a movie with a very selective audience appeal.

Kristen Stewart stars as Bella, a young girl who moves to a small town and becomes instantly captivated by a classmate named Edward (Robert Pattinson), who is part of a very peculiar and insular family known as the Cullens.

As Bella becomes more attracted to Edward, she discovers that the Cullens are a clan of vampires ... but very safe emo-vampires who only drink animal blood and spend most of their time silently emoting and looking pretty rather than preying on helpless victims.

Thus begins an epic tale of forbidden love that has made the hearts of millions of teenage girls swoon.

The main problem with the film is how completely uninteresting Edward can be. All he seems to be capable of doing is appearing simultaneously attractive and emotionally conflicted.

It also doesn't help that forbidden vampire love has been a cornerstone of the genre since Dracula, making the plot very old and predictable. The only curveball is the fact that this story takes place with contemporary teens (hence the fan base).

Catherine Hardwicke is a talented filmmaker (see Thirteen) and fills the movie with enough exciting visuals to keep things entertaining while coaxing solid performances out of the cast. But it's just not enough to elevate the film above a predictable storyline.

That said, if you're a fan of the franchise you'll probably enjoy the movie. However, if you're one of the many asking, "What's this Twilight thing all about?" then you should skip the film. You're better off not knowing.

The opposite of a Christmas film

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

FEATURE Seth Gordon burst onto the scene last year with the brilliant documentary The King Of Kong about a pair of grown men fighting over the top score on the original Donkey Kong.

It was inevitable that he would transition into Hollywood after the film, but nobody could have predicted that it would happen so quickly. Before King Of Kong even debuted on DVD, Gordon was hired to direct the comedy Four Christmases — with an all-star cast including Vince Vaughn, Reese Witherspoon, Robert Duvall and Sissy Spacek.

"Vince Vaughn had seen The King Of Kong and I think he responded well to it. He showed it to Reese and they asked to see me," said Gordon. "I barely had time to review the script. I actually read it on the plane to L.A. Then I told them my first instincts about the story and found that we were very similarly minded about the problems with the script."

Gordon then worked with the stars to make something that was true to their feelings about families and the holidays. Opening next Friday, the film is about a couple forced to visit their dysfunctional families for Christmas after avoiding them for years.

"I think it's in some ways the opposite of a traditional Christmas movie because the characters are anti-family anti-marriage, and anti-kids," says Gordon. "I guess my own personal attitudes about marriage and kids is closer to the protagonists than I was ready to admit. I think it's very informed by our personal experiences, although I won't say what is loosely based on specific things."

Making Four Christmases was obviously quite different from making a low budget documentary and Gordon admits that it was quite a challenge.

"It was such a leap and the movies have almost nothing in common," he said. "It was a great opportunity that I couldn't resist. I'll definitely do some more comedies in the future, but this was a great one to get to cut my teeth on."

A doggone good tale

Bolt

Director: Chris Williams, Byron Howard

Starring: John Travolta, Miley Cyrus

Classification: G

Rating: ●●●●●

STEVE GOW
for Metro Canada

John Travolta provides the voice for the title doggy Bolt.

REVIEW I must admit my initial reaction to John Travolta voicing a cute, cuddly puppy in Bolt wasn't one of anticipation. To me, it seemed a role fit more for Zac Efron than Danny Zuko but then, Bolt is not your average animated hit.

The movie starts off benign enough: A young girl named Penny (voiced by Miley Cyrus) falls in love with a pet store pup named Bolt (John Travolta). But it just as suddenly jumps five years and into the framework of what might be best described as a James Bond movie for Jack Russell Terriers.

Here, we find out Bolt is not only gifted with powers that include a "super-bark," but that the showbiz doggy doesn't realize its all part of a TV production. However, after Bolt is accidentally shipped across America, he discovers his true mortality and must journey home to his beloved owner.

Essentially, this tale about the unyielding loyalty of canines is as charming and heart-tugging as any Disney movie out there. Even better, the film excels in skill, depth and maturity equaling that of Wall-E and Ratatouille. Not really surprising since Pixar's brilliant chief John Lasseter is now running Disney's animation department as well.

While reticent about Travolta, his voice is actually a comforting fit for the disillusioned doggy. But Disney's story artist-turned-voiceover talent Mark Walton is the true scene-stealer in Bolt. Playing a hefty hamster that joins his TV idol on the cross-country trek, Walton's Rhino is sure to have audiences screaming "fully awesome" and giving Bolt a big boost at the box office.

Cue the music, it's an epic film

JIM REYNO

Movie feature

The very name conjures images of a screen filled with a vast, open prairie lit by a glorious, breathtaking sunset. Or maybe an imposing old guy with a full beard, with the power of God at his fingertips, ready to part the sea with the wave of a staff.

Add an overblown, melodramatic soundtrack, and ladies and gentlemen, you have — drum roll, please — an epic movie. Cue the horn blast! Crash the cymbals!

"They always seem to have those big, symphonic scores," associate professor of film Patricia Gruben says on the phone from Simon Fraser University in Vancouver. But there are other things an epic movie requires. Check out the media release for the latest epic, Baz Luhrmann's Australia: "With his new film, Luhrmann is painting on a vast canvas, creating a cinematic experience that brings together romance, drama, adventure and spectacle," Gruben says.

"It looks like it's got all the ingredients," she says about Australia. "There's got to be a love story in there somewhere, in every big-budget movie. But with these epic films, there's always the personal story and then the bigger (story)."

"Even if it's a love story like Dr. Zhivago or Gone With the Wind, it's against this kind of historical backdrop."

Australia, set in World War II, stars Nicole Kidman as an English aristocrat who travels Down Under to save land she inherited. But to do so, she needs the help of a rugged local (Hugh Jackman). Do you think opposites will attract?

The landscape of Australia is also very much a part of the picture. Now, Jackman won't be parting any seas like Charlton Heston did as Moses in The Ten Commandments, but visuals are integral to an epic. So is connecting with your audience.

"It's got to have some kind of mythic dimension," Gruben says. "It's got to tell us something about ourselves as a cultural group or as a nation."

Just as The Ten Commandments appealed to a religious audience, so goes Australia for Australians. Luhrmann, Kidman and Jackman are all Aussies. So if you can connect with people through their eyes, ears and heart, you're talking about a movie of epic proportions.

"I think the spectacle is part of it," Gruben says about the appeal of epics. "And I think very much a part of it — the ones that work, work on the basis of making us feel included in something, make us feel part of some larger idea."

Kidman, Jackman jumped at chance to work on Australia

FEATURE Red carpets were rolled out in Sydney and the dusty outback on Tuesday for the world premiere of the epic movie Australia which aims to showcase the rugged continent, its history and indigenous people to the world.

Director Baz Luhrmann's ambitious and grandly named film, the most expensive made in Australia, Australian co-stars Nicole Kidman and Hugh Jackman have both carved out lucrative Hollywood careers but jumped at the chance to work with Luhrmann.

"The hardest thing was finishing it," Jackman told a news conference, adding that playing a drover or cowboy in the movie was the "greatest role I have ever had."

Australia is pinning high hopes on the romantic adventure which Luhrmann said he had filmed in the style of Gone With The Wind and hoped would become part of Australian film history.

Kidman, 41, who worked with Luhrmann on his last and third movie Moulin Rouge in 2001, said making Australia was a "once in a lifetime thing" for her.

"Rarely do you get to make a film that you have dreamed of doing since you were little, which will be part of Australian cinema," said Kidman. "This is a celebration for me and hopefully for this country."

Asked about several steamy kissing scenes with Jackman, Kidman joked: "Obviously we were in character, but it was good to go to work."

The two-hour, 40-minute long movie, which is reported to have cost News Corp's 20th Century Fox about $130 million US, is a World War II drama set in stunning Australian landscape.

The story is about an English aristocrat who travels to Australia and joins forces with a drover and an Aboriginal child to drive a herd of cattle across Australia.

Australia opens in Canada on Wednesday.

Reel holiday

Whether you're looking for something to do with your loved ones over the holidays, or trying to get away from those cheek-pinching distant relatives, Hollywood is hoping you'll take in a flick — or a few.

There seems to be more choices than a can of mixed-nuts hitting the screen this year. Here's Metro's peak at some of the holiday-period's movie highlights.

STAGE TO SCREEN: Opie-grad Ron Howard raises the curtain on theatrical adaptation with Frost/Nixon (Dec. 12), a dramatization of the famous 1977 interview between journalist David Frost and a disgraced ex-president Richard Nixon. Howard will have some competition, since Meryl Streep's latest Oscar attempt, Doubt, also opens in some Canadian cities the same day. The Broadway version hit the stage more than 500 times, and Philip Seymour Hoffman and Amy Adams are helping to bring this story of a priest who may have crossed the line with a student to the big screen.

BIOS: Beyoncé Knowles may have missed her acting Oscar with Dreamgirls, but she is trying again with a turn as Etta James in Cadillac Records (Dec. 5); about the rise and fall of Chicago-based Chess Records. Sean Penn is also a contender for the golden-guy with his portrayal of Harvey Milk in Gus Van Sant's bio about the 1970s assassination of the San Francisco politician in Milk (limited release Nov. 28). It's anyone's guess how Valkyrie (Dec. 26) will fair. Tom Cruise teams with director Bryan Singer to bring this story of the attempted assassination of Adolph Hitler.

KATE AND LEO It was just over a decade ago that Christmas audiences warmed to Kate Winslet and Leonardo DiCaprio in the North Atlantic iceberg-crashing epic Titanic. Now Rose and Jack are teamed again, this time as a 1950s couple looking for answers in post-war suburbia in Revolutionary Road (Jan. 2). If you can't wait until the new year, get a Winslet fix in December when she plays a woman defending herself at a war crimes trial following World War II in The Reader (Dec. 12).

FANTASY FARE: The 1950s sci-fi classic The Day the Earth Stood Still has received a CGI update with Keanu Reeves playing the role of an alien visitor warning of an impending catastrophe if humanity doesn't clean up its act. (Dec. 12). Meanwhile, things are taking place in reverse for Brad Pitt, who stars as a man who, instead of growing older, finds himself growing younger everyday in The Curious Case of Benjamin Buttons (Dec. 25).

FAMILY FUN: Nothing says the holidays more than a family sharing a tub of buttered popcorn, and the producers of Delgo (Dec. 12) are hoping it's their film children are eying in theatres. This animated adventure sees Freddie Prinze Jr. provide the voice of a young man who escapes jail after being sentenced for a crime he didn't commit. It's a mouse on the run in The Tale of Despereaux (Dec. 19), with Matthew Broderick voicing a mouse banished from his home. Looking for something a bit more real? Adam Sandler stars as a hotel handyman whose fantastical stories he tells his niece and nephew start to become true in the family movie Bedtime Stories (Dec. 25).

ADAM NAYMAN
for Metro Canada

REVIEW The Last Mistress is being marketed as a costume drama, but with noted provocatrix Catherine Breillat at the helm, it's no surprise the clothes end up crumpled on the floor at regular intervals. The film, adapted from a 19th-century novel by Amédée Barbey d'Aurevilly, takes a cool tone in depicting the French aristocracy as a hothouse of unholy passions; the unholy roller of them all is La Vellini, the Spanish-Italian mongrel/courtesan played by Asia Argento.

Introduced in repose and habitually horizontal throughout the rest of the film, Vellini is well-accustomed to getting what she wants. Upon learning that her longtime lover Ryno (Fu'ad Ait Attou) is to take a bride, she resolves to stand by her man — whether he likes it or not. Argento, who has emerged as one of the most interesting actresses around, is ideally cast, even if the frequent references to Vellini's "homeliness" seem ridiculous.

Unfortunately, The Last Mistress falters in the last reel, with a would-be bittersweet ending that, while perfectly well-prepared for dramatically, is unsatisfying — and not in the way it's supposed to be.

Bringing the undead to the big screen

InFocus

Richard Crouse

mrchaos33@hotmail.com

This week audiences will travel into another dimension: A dimension where vampires and humans fall in love; where bloodsuckers feed on animals instead of people.

They'll take a journey to a wondrous land where a series of books can become a movie blockbuster. They're about to cross over into the Twilight zone.

Twilight, for the uninitiated, is Buffy's worst nightmare. It's the first in an insanely popular series of books about seventeen-year-old Bella Swan who moves to Forks, Washington and finds her life in danger when she falls in love with ninety-year-old vampire Edward Cullen.

The books are required reading for every teenage girl on the planet and now those undead literary characters are coming to life on the big screen in what will undoubtedly be the weekend's number one film. Vampires, despite Buffy's best efforts, are hot again.

Until recently, vampire movies were stuck in a rut, duller than a blunt wooden stake. Too often they relied on the age-old conventions of the genre — bloody fangs, holy water and black velvet capes — while every other horror icon was given a makeover.

28 Days Later gave us fleet footed zombies and Ginger Snaps suggested an alternate werewolf backstory but vampires were stuck in gothic Bela Lugosi Land.

The undead were reinvented for the series True Blood, but until recently interesting revisions of the vampire story at the movies were as rare as baked garlic at Dracula's Diner.

That's what makes Twilight and a new film called Let the Right One In so refreshing. The latter is a Swedish movie about Oskar, a bullied twelve-year old boy who finds love and revenge through Eli, a pretty but peculiar girl who is also a vampire.

Twilight, for the uninitiated, is Buffy's worst nightmare.

Relocating the story from Transylvania or a giant gothic castle to a snow-bound Stockholm suburb blows the cobwebs off of the traditional vampire tale. The setting is bright white, stark without a gar-goye or coffin in sight.

It's a curious backdrop for a horror movie and the otherworldliness of the setting adds to the disquieting aspects of the story.

So if Twilight is sold out at your local theatre this weekend, check out Let the Right One In, or, dig a little deeper and blow the dust off of DVD copies of Tobe Hooper's Lifeforce or The Hunger (David Bowie and Catherine Deneuve as elegantly wasted vamps) or even Blacula for a different take on the vampire myth.

Changeling

REVIEW Directed by legendary icon Clint Eastwood, Changeling tells the emotional journey of Christine Collins (Angelina Jolie), a single mother in 1920s Los Angeles who comes home to find her son missing. Following weeks of relentless searching, the police suddenly show up with her child, reporters in tow. Great. Only there's a catch: It ain't him.

Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa

REVIEW If it ain't broke, don't fix it. Yes, it's an archaic, overused adage, but when it comes to Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa, it also applies. The movie isn't without its improvements: It has plenty of jokes and inside-gags for the adults but they're mostly just recycled sensibilities from the 2005 film. Of course, the story is what really counts, and Madagascar 2 tells too many tales.

Quantum of Solace

REVIEW The movie starts literally minutes after its predecessor, Casino Royale, ended, with a pre-credit car chase that sums up director Marc Forster's brisk approach to the story. Action scenes are the meat of Bond movies. Most of what we see in Quantum of Solace is at least as good as the standards set in previous films; relentless, and more than a bit improbable. Daniel Craig's James Bond is still an excellent incarnation of the character.

Role Models

REVIEW Without its leading men — one uses the term loosely in this case — Role Models would be just another installment in the sub-Apatow genre, which is to say a comedy based on character and dialogue and the odd kick in the nuts. Paul Rudd and Seann William Scott are simply the best parts of a great

Soul Men

REVIEW Soul Men is a blast from the past in both its plot, about the reunion of a '60s-era R&B group, and its tired 1982-style script and direction. But the late Bernie Mac and Samuel L. Jackson deserve at least some credit for their smoother-than-expected grooving as aging singers. Soul Men's one saving grace is that it's Mac's final performance and for this reason, it may end up generating more box-office returns than it otherwise would have.

Best and worst of Bond themes

JIM REYNO
Metro Canada

It's not like Jack White and Alicia Keys have been given a licence to thrill.

The unlikely duo collaborated on Another Way to Die, the hodgepodge title song for the new James Bond film, Quantum of Solace. But although having the Bond theme is a high-profile opportunity for any artist, most of the songs don't have anywhere near the shelf life of the franchise.

Got room on your iPod for All Time High by Rita Coolidge? How about Chris Cornell's You Know My Name? And who the hell is Lulu, anyway?

Let's do worst first — literally.

One Bond theme has reached No. 1 in the U.S. — Duran Duran's A View to a Kill, written by frequent Bond-theme composer John Barry. Simon Le Bon gave the track his trademark vocal squeak, and the whole world squeaked along with him.

Then there's Madonna's nasal interpretation of Die Another Die from 2002. Fortunately, it did.

Surprisingly, many of the themes associated with Bond — always action-packed, rigorous flicks — are ballads. That's not to say they're limp and ineffective — this is James Bond we're talking about, after all.

In fact, some of them are, appropriately, killer ballads. Carly Simon's sultry delivery of Nobody Does It Better from the 1977 Bond film The Spy Who Loved Me helped the Carole Bayer Sager/Marvin Hamlisch song garner an Academy Award nomination for best song. You feel like you've made a conquest just listening to it.

Another Bond ballad got an Oscar nod for best song. Sheena Easton, the little Scot with the big voice, earned a nomination with For Your Eyes Only from 1981. Bill Conti and Michael Leeson wrote the song.

The other Bond theme that's been nominated for a best-song Oscar is probably the most loved Bond theme of them all. Paul McCartney & Wings released Live and Let Die in 1973.

Composed by McCartney and now-deceased wife Linda, the song is all things Bond: Suave and sophisticated during the slow parts, dangerous and edgy when the tempo rises.

It's a fun ride, just like in the movies.

Alicia Keys and Jack White team up for Quantum of Solace's theme song.

Cornell Screams of ambition

BRYAN BORZYKOWSKI
for Metro Canada

On Nov. 4, when Barack Obama was marching to victory in the U.S. presidential election, Chris Cornell was in Vancouver watching it all unfold on TV. While the legendary Seattle singer was excited by the results, he was especially moved by Canada's reaction to America's affairs.

"I got a sense from Canadians that they were pleased about the outcome as well," he says on the phone from Vancouver, a couple days after the election. "That was really cool, you never know how other people are going to react."

He's seen his fair share of cynicism towards America — he lives part time in Paris — and he thinks Obama can change the way people outside the States view his country. "It's good to get away from the States and look back through the lens that other people see us through," he says. "What happened on Tuesday changes that view an awful lot."

As excited as Cornell is about his new president, he's got more pressing issues at hand. He's currently on tour promoting his third solo album, Scream. It's a vast departure from Soundgarden's brooding grunge, or Audioslave's more straight-up riff rock — in fact, it doesn't resemble anything the artist has done.

This Timbaland produced disc features heavy doses of R&B-like dance music, mixed with rock sounds. With a few tweaks single Part of Me, could have found its way on Nelly Furtado's last disc, while Ground Zero sounds like Maroon 5-meets-Gnarls Barkley, but with Cornell's soaring vocals.

"Musically, this is the most ambitious thing I've been a part of," he says.

Another world for GNR

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

alan@ongoinghistory.com

By the time the new Guns N' Roses album, Chinese Democracy hits stores on Sunday, it will have been 17 years, two months and seven days since the last time Gunners' fans had a chance to buy a CD of new material. When Axl finally emerged from Rip Van Winkle studios, he may have found that the world had, er, changed.

Here's what I mean:

- When "Use Your Illusion 1 and 2" were released on September 17, 1991, an unknown band called "Nirvana" was getting ready to issue a record called "Nevermind" the following week. In other words, grunge was born, peaked, died and became nostalgia in the space between albums.

- Miley Cyrus was still six months away from even being a viable collection of stem cells. Meanwhile, Daddy was still an unknown mullet. "Achy Breaky Heart" wouldn't be released until the following year.

- A precocious ten year-old named Britney Spears had just appeared on "Star Search."

- Although AC/DC has just released their first album in eight years, they've released five since the last GNR record.

- The first Lollapalooza Tour had just wrapped up.

- Michael Jackson was still considered a good investment. Sony had just signed him to a contract worth $1 billion.

- Sam the Record Man stocked CDs, vinyl and pre-recorded cassettes in locations across Canada.

- Speaking of CDs, they were sold in environmentally-unfriendly packages called "longboxes."

- I bought my new Walkman. It came in a yellow waterproof case so I could take it to the beach.

- "Arnold Schwarzenegger, a politician? You mean that guy in Terminator

2? HAHAAAAHA!"

- The biggest game system was the Sega Genesis. Sony's first PlayStation was still three years in the future.

- Computer users were excited about MS-DOS 5.0 because no one wanted to use Windows 3.0. Besides, who wanted to pay $4,000 for a machine with 1MB of RAM and a 40MB hard drive? Who would ever need all that storage?

- The world's population was 5.7 billion. It's now 6.3 billion.

- A lame-duck president named Bush was on his way to being tossed out of the White House by a young, charismatic Democrat and his very smart wife. Meanwhile, there was a brutal recession as the stock market tanked, partly because the cost of fighting a war in Ir—.

Heroes need rescuing

Rick McGinnis

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

FROM HERO TO ZERO: Nobody will disagree when you say that this season of NBC's Heroes has been lackluster — disappointing even when compared to the last season, as even creator Tim Kring seemed to confirm at a recent screenwriting workshop where he admitted that maintaining the plotlines has been “an absolute bear to do.”

Kring also made a curious statement, noting that the way people watch TV has changed, noting that airing long storylines is “a very flawed way of telling stories on network television right now because of the advent of the DVR and online streaming,” and that watching a show during its scheduled broadcast slot “is related to the saps and the dips-ts who can't figure out how to watch it in a superior way.”

It only took a day or two for Maureen Ryan of the Chicago Tribune to take Kring to task for insulting his show's fans. “The only sap here is Kring,” Ryan wrote. “Any and all insulting terms should be directed at himself. After all, who is responsible for two seasons of mostly muddled, incoherent storytelling? It wasn't the saps at home on their couches.”

Time pop culture critic James Poniewozik went after Kring's confused take on post-broadcast TV, reminding him that — long, long ago, even before only children or MIT scientists could program VCRs — you once had to rely on annoying officemates to catch you up on shows you'd missed because you had to meet your in-laws for dinner, or a diesel rig had careened off the highway and demolished your TV antenna.

“Time-shifting, streaming and watching on DVD are precisely what has made it more attractive for viewers to watch serial shows,” Poniewozik writes. “If you can watch on Hulu, or a second run on cable, or a replay on your DVR, it's easier to catch up.

Kring admitted that, unlike the producers of Battlestar Galactica, he has no idea where his show is going; right now it looks like he's paddled out of sight of land and needs to blame someone for turning a hit show about superheroes into a nerdy melodrama where every new plot twist makes its fans punch themselves in the temple to dull the pain of feeling like a sucker.

No role models in L.A.: Wahlberg

PARENTING Mark Wahlberg doesn't want his daughter to look up to singer Britney Spears and hotel heiress Paris Hilton, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The actor, who has a five-year-old daughter Ella Rae, two-year-old son Michael and nine-week-old Brendan Joseph with fiancée Rhea Durham, wants to move away from Hollywood because there are no positive role models for his children.

"There are no real role models for girls. You've got Britney Spears, you've got Paris Hilton — they're nice enough people but I don't want my daughter to aspire to be like that."

Madonna and Ritchie to be divorced today

IN COURT Pop star Madonna and her film director husband Guy Ritchie are to be divorced at the High Court in London today, according to court lists.

A notice of the couple's decree nisi will be posted at the Registry of the Family Division, BBC News Online reports.

According to newspaper reports, the couple have reached a settlement over finances and sharing custody of their three children.

The couple are registered for the divorce hearing under the names Ciccione M and Ritchie GS. It will be heard before the High Court's Family Division. Neither party are required to attend the hearing, which is likely to last a matter of minutes.

According to The Times newspaper, the 50-year-old singer will retain the bulk of her wealth.

The couple's two sons, eight-year-old Rocco and David, 2, may share their time between their U.K. and U.S. homes, reports suggest.

The paper added that Lourdes, Madonna's 12-year-old daughter from a previous relationship, will continue to live with her mother.

Paltrow is sorry for wearing fur

APOLOGY Gwyneth Paltrow is trying to get back in animal rights activists' good books, by apologizing to the People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals for endorsing Tod's collection of luxury fur goods, imdb.com reports.

A spokesperson said at the time that they had written to the star many times about the treatment of animals used for fur, but their contact had been rebuffed.

But Paltrow made amends by telling PETA vice-president Dan Mathews she didn't realize the fox fur and fur-lined boots were real.

Mathews recounted the apology to Usweekly.com, saying "(Paltrow said) ... it was a daylong photo shoot on a boat near Capri, and there were all sorts of poses with all kinds of clothes — none with fur. During one setup, a stylist came up from behind and draped a stole around my shoulder. I didn't pay much attention to it, and when I noticed it was fur, I assumed it was fake fur, but did not ask, so it's my fault. I know it's not a great excuse, but I hope you and your members understand."

Phillippe's a great dad: Witherspoon

FAMILY Reese Witherspoon has heaped praise on her ex-husband Ryan Phillippe because he's a great dad, imdb.com reports.

The actress split from Phillippe in 2007, but says the former couple remains civil for the sake of their children Ava and Deacon.

"When we're with our children, we're very good about checking ourselves. I'm teaching the children what we were taught growing up — a real set of rules, discipline and love."

Paris and Benji split

BREAKUP Paris Hilton and Benji Madden's romance is over, People.com reports.

The pair split a few days ago after more than nine months of dating, a source close to the hotel heiress tells People.

"She is saddened by the breakup but they're just too different and they wanted different things in life," the source says. "He was loyal and sweet but it was time to take a break."

Reps for both Hilton and Madden could not be reached for comment.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

On Nov. 15, Paris was photographed getting cosy with ex-boyfriend Stavros Niarchos at nightclub Mokai in Miami. The Hilton friend says the two were simply engaged in a close but friendly conversation.

Both Hilton, 27, and Madden, 29, have recently denied reports that they were unfaithful to each other.

Hathaway headed for heartbreak?

RELATIONSHIPS Anne Hathaway has friends worried she's headed for heartbreak with new flame and actor Adam Shulman, five months after splitting from Raffaello Follieri, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

A source alleges Shulman could be the wrong man for her: "When he was at Brown (University), he went after all the heiresses. It's like Anne is addicted to losers."

HOW TO PLAY: Digits 1 through 9 will appear once in each zone – one zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine zones in the puzzle. Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same zone, row across or column down the entire puzzle.

Metro Recipe of the Day*Tomatoes with Spinach Stuffing*INGREDIENTS:

1-1/2 tbsp (20 mL) olive oil
8 oz (250g) fresh spinach
4 large tomatoes, about 8 oz (225g) each
1 cup (250 mL) pine nuts
1 clove garlic
4 oz (125g) Italian-style premium cheese, such as Parmigiano-Reggiano
Salt and black pepper

METHOD:

1. Preheat oven to 425°F (220°C). Lightly oil a baking sheet. Remove stems from spinach.
2. Heat remaining oil in a saucepan, add spinach, cover, and cook for 2 minutes. Uncover, stir, and leave to cook for 1 minute. Drain off liquid, transfer spinach to a bowl, and set aside.

3. Rinse and dry tomatoes; slice off and reserve tops. Discard pith, seeds and juice from the centre of each.

4. Lightly toast pine nuts, then add to spinach. Peel and crush garlic and add to mixture, then grate over cheese, season to taste with salt and black pepper, and mix.

5. Press spinach mixture into tomatoes, piling it up, then replace tops, balancing them on the stuffing. Bake on the top shelf of the oven for 12–15 minutes. Serve hot.
